Program Overview

“Clinical Posture Practice” is designed for Doctors of Chiropractic and CAs who want to enhance their knowledge of more effective and safe strength training techniques. Consideration of joint position, ROM, application of load and biomechanical goal will all be applied. Attendees will learn essential tools for creating a Patient Choice Posture Practice including: to assess posture, posture strengthening techniques for common adaptations and distortions, focused motion posture exercise to strengthen posture and balance, clinical tools and educational models to empower patients.

“Energy, Documentation, Passion of material, Logic, Demonstration & Practicality to take to the office and use immediately! Love the materials!” Harvey Rossel, DC (NY)

Program Instructor

Clinical Posture Practice – Steven P. Weiniger, DC is a nationally noted clinician, author, lecturer and consultant whose focus is on posture exercise, biomechanics and chiropractic. Since 2003, he has trained thousands of doctors at BodyZone seminars and various state chiropractic conventions. In addition to practicing outside of Atlanta, Georgia for over 25 years, he has been Managing Partner of BodyZone.com; served as director for state and regional chiropractic organizations, and was appointed as delegate for the White House Conference on Aging. He most recently has been published in Natural Health Magazine. His book, Stand Taller – Live Longer, presents a program to strengthen posture as an anti-aging strategy for boomers, and everyone, who wants to stay active and move well.
